

Multidisciplinary Considerations for Treatment of Gastrointestinal Cancers

Online Webinar Series: November 2021 - April 2022

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of Dr. Natalie Coburn, the Department of Continuing Professional Development and Surgery at the University of Toronto, we invite you to participate in a digital seminar series event filled with national and international keynote speakers, clinical case presentations and panel discussions on the topic of multidisciplinary considerations for the treatment of colorectal, gastrointestinal and pancreatic cancer in 2021.

We are very pleased to host internationally renowned physicians at the forefront of improving cancer treatment and outcomes.

Each evening of the 3-part program will consist of lectures by the guest speakers, clinical case presentations and a panel discussion. The panel discussions will involve medical, surgical and radiation oncologists, moderated by Ontario faculty members.

We hope that you will be able to join us for these educational seminars!

Target Audience
